Dear Embassy Suites Hotel,

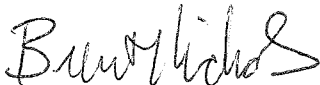

Between September 28 and 30, our organization will be holding our annual convention in the Phoenix area and we would like to base our festivities at your fine establishment. I hope you can help with our exciting event.

I represent the Fraternal Organization of Amateur Covert Operatives. We have three full days of fun events and we would like to receive information about your hotel; we need to make sure it will accommodate our plans. I cannot specify how many of our agents will be attending, but I can assure you it will be quite lucrative. Of course we will not be able to give the names in advance. All of our agents will check into their rooms under aliases. If all goes well, you will have no idea which guests belong to our organization. How exciting!

In addition to lodging information, what conference rooms are available? We plan to have showcases on new Super Secret Tactical Weaponry, presentations on The Commie Threat, and a round table discussion on Who's Who in Secret Agents, one of the most coveted awards in our organization.

I hope having "spies" running amok in your hotel will not put you off. I can assure you all of our agents are civilized, polite, and will only kill in the line of duty. If anyone asks to whom you are sending lodging information, tell them it is for an "Insurance Convention." I look forward to receiving your reply.

With eager anticipation,

Brent A. Nichols
Events Coordinator

P.S. We will untap the phones at the conclusion of our stay.
